Laws are made for maintaining peace and balance in society. They are also made to give by to public. But, some laws are not in favour of public so; they are not liked by public.

I don't like one law

It is the law of reservation quota. Which is on the basis of caste is really ridiculous.

Person is not chosen or known by his talent or by his skills but by his caste.

It is an Indian law in which Indians suffer a lot.

How can we forget decisions of Mandal Commission (1989) in which large number of people died also and common people and doctors committed suicide to change this law but, government did not change the decision. Now in 2010, this law is still alive.

It is time of admission in professional studies like MCA, MBA, Bed or job in Govt-department, this law is implemented.

S.C. O.B.C category people get more benefit by getting 45%, 50% marks

General category students suffer a lot.

Already-there is unemployment and nobody looks after changing this law.

There must be awareness in government to bring equality for all.

It is humble request from all candidates who are toppers and don't get their rights. It is high time to change this law and bring flame of equality.

- But, with time, thinking of people changed and there was a law made by Govt. for its Abolishment.
- Now, according to law, the age of marriage for girls is 18 and for boys is 21.
- People are given punishment if they marry earlier than this age.
- It helps in the overall development of a person moreover he is enough mature to run his/her family.
- They understand their responsibilities.
- They can complete their education-get a job before marriage.
