

Your child is studying in a school but you are not happy the way kids are taught in the school. Write a letter to the headmistress and tell the situation and make some suggestions.

Dear madam

I Am writing this epistle to raise a concern about the way children are taught in grade seven.

xx

My ward Chelsea is studying in your school and of late I have noticed her disinterest in all of the subjects. Even her performance in the term examination was not satisfactory in all the academic subjects. This is not only the case with my daughter but all the parents of this class feel the same. My child has been a front runner in her junior school with her percentile more than 94% but her achievements in the latest tests is very less.

I came to know about the same situation of her ~~peers~~ when I met some more parents in the last meeting in the school campus.

xx

When I talked to her she told me that the teachers just read the text from the books which children consider as boring as a lullaby. There is no explanation of the facts and even no questions answered. To our dismay children are fascinated a lot of video tutorials to study on their own which I guess is the prime reason of their depleting performance. It is high time that you take a note on this situation and train your teachers to be more practical and so that they teach in an interactive manner. Even home assignments can be delivered so that children do some research to ~~make~~ develop some

Interest in the subjects.
I hope ~~you~~ to hear from you soon on this,

Thanks

Tim Bennet