

Of late, (topic) has become a matter of opinion. Some avowedly embrace that (extend agree point), while others controvert that (extend disagree point). Though, I minded uphold that (your point of view).

Certainly, protagonists emphasize their perspective by saying that (expand agree point). What is more, (expand second agree point). To quote an instance, (give example). Eventually, (give conclusion).

Subsequently, another imperative outlook in favor of / against (topic) is (your second view point). To exemplify, (give example). Ergo, (give conclusion).

Conversely, opponents do not agree with the aforementioned statements and believe that (expand disagree viewpoint). On top of it, (expand second disagree viewpoint).

In an inference, despite (other's viewpoint), I am firmly credence that (your first point of view).